

Because I am certain that French Foreign Legionnaires (a military unit made up of multiple nations—fyi) were involved in Charlie's assassination, I feel that it is urgent that I share the following information with the public...

It is all the more compelling of course that this would combine the MKUltra/Stanford University angle that we had prodding.

And don't forget, in Brigitte's lawsuit against me she has mentioned MKULTRA a jaw-dropping 18 times.

It was a shocking overreaction to me having merely mentioned that her alleged birthday also happens to be the day the MKUltra program was born.

For those of you who do not know,
the precursor to MKULTRA was a Nazi program known as “Project Monarch”.

To this day, our government,
(which LOVES condemning everyone as a “Nazi”,) scrambles and lies to protect and hide the fact that this Nazi program existed.

Why?

Did we bring its authors over during Operation Paperclip?

Of note, Project Monarch was a government programmed which abused children.

As those of you who are in my book club know, per author Jeffrey Masson (who was the assistant director to Sigmund Freud's archives and was slated to be the next director) Sigmund Freud and his abusive associates in Vienna, Berlin, and Paris had acknowledged that this trauma was a way to manufacture and control a future psychopath.

I will spare you the details but suffice it to say that parents were intentionally harming their own children and it was happening a lot across Vienna and Paris in particular. This is a part of history that has been intentionally buried. I strongly advise everyone to read "the assault on truth" for further context.

Back to our Brigitte narrative:

After raising this interesting point regarding Brigitte's family chocolate business publicly, I then received another tip:

To: Candace Tips <tips@candaceowens.com>

Subject: Brigitte Macron's family worked for Beitar

The precursor of the IRGUN which in itself is a precursor to the MOSSAD.

I have information about this.

As you know, Brigitte Macron was allegedly born Brigitte Marie-Claude Trogneux in Amiens, France. The family is the owners of the five-generation Chocolaterie Trogneux.

Now you rightfully asked why the factory of Trogneux, and it was a HUGE chocolate factory, how come it survived. Well I can tell it was a little thing called the Judenraat. This story was huge in Israel they never could keep it u leaked back in the 50s. Ben Gurion was involved there. Jabotinsky Google that. Aharonson with the Rotschild.

This is all verifiable . Long story short they got them immunity and later Beitar first and later the MOSSAD and Levi Eshkol/Yitzhak Shamir used Brigitte as a way to spy on the French president.

Just Google Mirage and Israeli planes during a BOYCOTT by Charles-De-Gaulle just before the 1967 war. Then check how MOSSAD Agents got the plans for these jet fighters.

I would like to be clear again that I have not confirmed that tip but Brigitte having a connection to Israel somehow would make sense given the protection he is afforded and the extraordinary lengths taken to guard something so obvious like her true gender.

They seem willing to kill over this secret which signifies to me that her true lineage is from a powerful family.

Israel is the only nation that I feel has the pull to demand that Trump call me.

It is also the nation that would have had Sergio Gor call me.

And Charlie Kirk

What I am utterly confounded by
is the unnecessary deceit.

If Trump has simply called me and said “Brigitte is a state asset and we need you to protect that information at this time as a matter of national security”, I would have done it.

Instead, I was told that Macron’s feelings were hurt. And that he didn’t want to negotiate an end to the Ukraine war because his wife was upset.

I guess governments are so accustomed to dealing in deceit and lies and death that the option of just asking someone to do something and being honest with them as to why just never even crosses their mind.

The government factory setting seems to be demand, control, gaslight...and kill.

Anyway, I wanted to share all of that information publicly because with the French and Israeli assassination information (which I shared with the Federal government today), I am realizing that the story of Brigitte Macron, which I stumbled upon quite innocently, is about a lot more than a trans woman who groomed Emmanuel Macron.

And I wonder if things would have been different if Charlie had shared with the public who exactly he thought was going to kill him in the 24 hours leading up to his death.

He expressed this to multiple people in his inner circle, but he didn't inform the public.

I wish so badly he had told me directly.

We'll start with a question: What is it about Brigitte Macron that required Charlie Kirk, followed by Sergio Gor and then President Donald Trump to personally call me and ask me not to further investigate her?

At the time, it seemed absurd. Funny, almost.

Sergio Gor was pretty fired up about it. But why? Why is the story of a man crossdressing as a First Lady in France apparently the biggest state secret of all?

I am now putting those pieces together in retrospect...

As most of you are aware, we had been investigating the plausibility that while living as a man, Brigitte was involved in MK Ultra experimentation here in the United States, during his "missing years" in the military.

We were further confused by Brigitte's family origin story...

The story told to the public, for those of you that don't know, is that Brigitte Trogneux hails from a family of generational chocolatiers from Amiens. A bakery that has been running since the 1880's.

We received a tip that that story was impossible. The person claimed and presented solid historical evidence that Amiens came under heavy bombardment during WW2. That the Nazis had occupied Amiens and that the original chocolatiers could not have kept their doors open selling macarons during this time.

We then came across documentation which revealed that after world war 2, a family in Bamberg Germany with the last name Trogneux was transported to Amiens as “refugees”.

Rene Trogneux was the name of one of those individuals.

I had begun to wonder if it were possible that actually, Brigitte's lineage was German.

As we know as Americans, after WW2, the CIA began "operation paperclip" where they gave new identifications to Nazi "scientists" and inserted them into our government.

Therefore, it was at the very least a compelling theory that Brigitte's family could have actually been Nazi scientists, and that was the big state secret worth protecting.

Again, this was in early August and I had in no way confirmed this.

It was just a theory that I was working on researching and open to being debunked on.

My main questions were:

What happened to Rene Trogneux of Amiens?

Who was Rene Trogneux in Bamberg, Germany and what did he do?

Can we prove that Rene is related to Brigitte?
